

Journal homepage: <https://ssarpublishers.com/ssarjms>
Abbreviated Key Title: SSAR J Multidiscip. Stud
ISSN: 3049-2041 (Online)
Subject: Multidisciplinary Studies
Volume 2, Issue1, (Jan-Feb) 2025, Page 49–51 (Total PP.03)
Frequency: Bimonthly
E-mail: ssarpublishers@gmail.com

OF APPROVE

By

Corresponding author: Dibakar Pal, M.Phil --- E-mail:dibakarpal786@gmail.com

Student Retired Executive Magistrate (Civil Servant)

Department of Business Management, University of Calcutta, India.

Abstract: To touch a virgin approval is required. It is not only required, rather it is a must. It is called etiquette. In case of a lover such approval is not mandatory. It is a bi-partite issue based on mutual consent. In case of wife if the husband does not be intimate further then the wife suspects that either the husband has been involved in extra-marital affair or she is no more attractive or both simultaneously. Similarly, in case of love the lover is deserted if the partner gets better option. Here the lover seldom takes approval. Rather he escapes. So love is a pure gambling. An innocent soul simply loses the game.

Keywords: Agree, Accept, Prove, Show, Favour, Sanction, Pre-Approval, Post-Approval, No-Approval.

INTRODUCTION

Creative writing is based more on manifestation rather than on expression. It does not inform, rather it reveals. So it bears no reference. The best creative writing is critical, and the best critical writing is creative. This article is an outcome of thinking about creative writing meant for a general readership. As such, I have adopted a free style methodology so that everyone can enjoy the pleasure of reading. As you might know, Francis Bacon (1561-1626), the immortal essayist, wrote many essays namely 'Of Love', 'Of Friendship', 'Of Ambition', 'Of Studies', and so on. The multiple-minded genius correctly pointed out that all the words of the dictionary can be used as themes for essays. But little has been done since his death to continue or finish his monumental task. Bacon's unique individual style of presentation ignited my imagination and encouraged me to write creative essays as a method of relieving a wide range of emotions through catharsis.

ARTICLE

Approve is officially agree to or accept as satisfactory. For example: The budget was approved by parliament.

It is to prove. It is to show. For example: He approved himself ripe for military command.

It is to have a positive opinion of someone or something: For example: She doesn't approve of my friends. He doesn't approve of smoking. I thoroughly approve of what the government is doing.

It is to have or express a favorable opinion of e.g., couldn't approve such conduct.

It is to give formal or official sanction. It is to ratify. For example: Congress approved the proposed budget.

There are two types of approval viz., pre-approval and post-approval. Someone takes pre-approval. Someone takes post-approval. The former is a judicious person. He wants to avoid future complicacy. The latter one is either callous or courageous. The second option is a risky game. The authority may not approve the work done. Then the liability is fixed upon the concerned person. Besides these two types there is a third kind of approval viz., no approval. They say no politics is also a politics. Similarly, no style is also a style. Then no approval is also an approval.

A superior or rich person prefers no approval option. They like not to take approval always. Sometimes they take approval. Sometimes they take not. They take if they like. They take not if they like not. Thus their mood and motive are gloriously so uncertain.

A mighty person thinks that he needs not take approval. Approval is for all except him. He is the king maker. He is the rule maker. Also he is rule breaker. He asks to obey traffic rule. But he prefers and practices rash driving. People call him rough but he calls him tough.

To a lay person taking of approval is a difficult task. He considers it as the business of an educated person. An educated person may not be smart enough to tackle a situation as is faced with. Then a less educated person having presence of mind wins the game.

Time is equivalent to money. In business time is very crucial. He who reaches early earns more. He who reaches late either earns less or cannot earn at all. In public offices issuance of approval is a long term project. They impose fine who does not take approval. The business man either breaks rule or give bribe to do their business timely. They call fine or bribe as speed money which they include in their project cost. They collect this additional expenditure from the customers. Thus they purchase and sell approval like a commodity.

To touch a virgin approval is required. It is not only required, rather it is a must. It is called etiquette. In case of a lover such approval is not mandatory. It is a bi-partite issue based on mutual consent. In case of wife if the husband does not be intimate further then the wife suspects that either the husband has been involved in extra-marital affair or she is no more attractive or both simultaneously. Similarly, in case of love the lover is deserted if the partner gets better option. Here the lover seldom takes approval. Rather he escapes. So love is a pure gambling. An innocent soul simply loses the game.

Very few love-affairs culminate into marriage. None knows what is in the lot. In patriarchal society a male partner ignores of taking approval of his wife for poly gamy. Similarly, in matriarchal society a woman ignores her husband. If either husband or wife is liable for non-issue of a baby then approval of second marriage is the concern of law of that society.

Love knows no law. No approval is required in this regard. No training is required to fall in love. It comes automatically in human life. It is natural like a stream that comes out of the hill spontaneously.

Love is not a daily drama. It does not occur regularly. So man cannot gather any previous experience to materialize it. As such many times a lover fails successfully to be involved in love-affair. It is difficult to love. It is more difficult to hold it for long. And it is most difficult to convert it into marriage. It is really an art. All are not artist. All cannot be artist. All are not destined to be artist. This answers why successful lovers are numbered.

An experienced person is valued much in real life. But the paradox is that such an experienced person cannot love. Here experience acts as brake. He calculates always. He suffers from the phobia of uncertainty, injustice and fear. He wants to take judicious decision. But calculation cannot catch love always.

Man marries once. Man constructs a house once. So man does not have any previous experience for the implementation of these two vital projects. But man becomes involved in these two works without any past experience. Fate is a great factor to own a lover and a house. Sometimes man wins and be happy. Sometimes he loses and becomes unhappy. Judgment is required in love-making but not mandatory. It is optional. It restricts movement of love in each and every step. A lover wants to offer thrill and be thrilled simultaneously in reciprocation. Thrill is the outcome of emotion. A wise is guided by motion. A fool is guided by emotion. As such love is the business of a fool seldom of a wise.

In contrast an inexperienced person falls in love at ease. Inexperience is a disqualification. Here disqualification acts as qualification. In some conservative society free sex is strictly forbidden. The lovers do not care to take approval. They contend that life for a single day pregnant with love is far better than life of thousand years without any love. They face honour killing. They are not afraid of it. They don't like to take approval. In fact approval cannot be the passport of love.

A wise prefers to gain fully taking zero risk. The learned wants to love without taking any kind of risk. No risk, no gain means high risk and high gain. A wise wants 100% gain without losing even a single farthing which is next to impossible. As such the learned remains unloved. Thus he remains deprived from the warm touch of the lover.

Love does not obey any rule. It is the outcome of emotion. Emotion does not take any kind of approval. Though emotion is tender in nature its velocity is violent. As such it breaks all barriers and crosses all boundaries with its violent force. In some restricted area entry of civilian is strictly prohibited. The caution goes as, "Trespassers will be prosecuted". It means in such domain secrecy is maintained for the security of the organisation. In administration approval is required. Physical movement can be restricted in the name of approval. In case of devotion and love restriction cannot be imposed. Mind cannot be bound. In case of love eyes take the main part. The lovers exchange their emotion through eyes. Eye beckons. Eye attracts. Eye directs. Eye dictates. Where language ends eye begins its operation. The language of eye is richer than words. They say, "Silence is more eloquent than speaking anything. Eye woks silently. It works perfectly. Any look signifies inner and deep meaning. Only a lover can read and realize those obscure languages. The grammar of beckon is quite different and unique in nature. A lover grasps it timely.

CONCLUSION

There are two types of person. The first category likes to take approval where it is required. They don't argue for its necessity. They are law abiding citizens. The second category likes not to take approval. They always argue and challenge its validity. Many times they argue for the sake of argument only. It is their strategy to come into lime light. In fact taking approval is an orientation like etiquette.

REFERENCES

No reference, since the present article is an outcome of Creative Nonfiction Writing.

THE END